Do you have a name with characters that don’t exist in regular English language? It is difficult to fill out official forms when your first or last name has a special character, like in Nuñez, or in Bjørgen. In those cases, go to the information page of your passport. At the bottom you will find the machine readable zone, where your last name will be spelled in regular characters, and will be separated from your first name by <<. This is how you should spell your name in official forms.

InvolveUT is the University of Tampa’s official student engagement platform for students, faculty, and staff. Use this app to get involved, access resources, and communicate with others across campus.

Stay connected on and off campus by easily joining one of the 200+ student organizations, RSVPing and attending events, getting involved in community volunteer opportunities, and networking.

ISSS @ IPO has started to sponsor the Latin Students Association, and planning to sponsor Friends Of International at UT. We are looking forward to sponsor an International Student Organization and any other student club that we can help and guide.
